Quality Standards for Consumer Items

5801. SHRI O.P. KOHLI: Will the Minister of CIVIL SUPPLIES, CONSUMER AFFAIRS AND PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION be pleased to refer to the answer to Unstarred Question 792 given in the Rajya Sabha on the 20th March, 1995 and state:

(a) whether any quality standards for consumer items have been laid down by Government; and

(b) if so, the details thereof and to what extent the manufacturers have been following those standards?

THE MINISTER OF CIVIL SUPPLIES, CONSUMER AFFAIRS AND PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION (SHRI BUTA SINGH): (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) The Bureau of Indian Standards, which is responsible for formulation of national standards has formulated about 2000 standards in respect of consumer items like building construction materials, medical equipment, domestic refrigerators, LPG stoves, oil pressure stoves, hurricane lanterns, gas cylinders, domastic electrical appliances, GLS lamps, cycle and car tyres, detergent powder, laundry soaps, biscuits, food colours, spices, processed fruits and vegetable products, milk powder, vanaspati, mosquito nets, etc.

BIS operates a Certification Marks Scheme under which licences are granted to manufacturers for using ISI-mark on their Certification Mark Scheme is basically voluntary in nature. However, certain products relating to health safety and mass consumption, covering 125 items, have been brought under mandatory certification by the Government of India by issuing Quality Control Orders from time to time under various Acts and Statutes. These items include LPG cylinders, food colours, milk powder, electric lamps, vanaspati, cement, electrical switches and sockets, etc. The responsiblitiy for implementation of Quality Control Orders lies with the State Government/U.T. Administrations.

After grant of licenses, the Bureau of Indian Standards, through their system of regular inspection of the produced according to the provisions of the Certification Marks Scheme and they also conform to the relevant Indian Standard specification.
